The login screen allows the user/employee to login. We have tried to fit the Infinity range layout through our design as shown in the diagrams. Once you step into the office you open up the Infinity app to login.

Once you touch the search icon another screen shows up and either lets you search an employee by name or under the search bar there is a "favorite's bar" to quickly search your most searched employee.

Then When you tap "GO" the location indicator pops up on a desk to indicate where your desired employee is located in the large office area. this saves people a whole lot of time trying to find people.

If you wanted to select a desk to book then all you need to do is tap an available desk and it will then be highlighted. then press the "Reserve" tab on top of the screen.

Reserve

Then a screen to book the table comes up much like a calender where you can set a day and time which has a start point and a end point. Once you're ready you touch the "book" icon.

Once you're seated at the desk you have an option to leave for a certain amount of time or completely logout. to do so you simply just tap you phone on to the "NFC sticker" provided on the right hand side of the desk.

This screen allows you to set a time from start to end to indicate how long you will be away from the desk. It lets all employees know that you are away and you'll be back at a certain time.
